The dream

I find myself in front of the Matrixian temple. An actual cathedral rises up before my very eyes. A place to worship all the Matrixian divinities. I enter and make out television screens showing the political, economic and religious leaders. The supreme chiefs of a new planetary order.

I look around me... I see shells with a human appearance walking without a destination, hurrying without a reason, making efforts in vain, speaking without saying anything, thinking without reflecting... Zombies, living dead, souls without a soul, living beings without life, spiritual entities without hope. Anxiety is painted on their faces, fear breaks their voices, desperation pervades their entire bodies. They wait on and completely depend on the messages radiating from the television screens of a Matrixian "Big Brother".

A strange, hypnotic atmosphere pervades me... it seems to touch me, feel me. I can even feel the chilling odor of its breath. Every being inside this temple seems to live according to its rhythm... their hearts beat in unison.

The blood in my veins stops. As if drugged, I fall into a trance-like state, a deep stupor that I perceive as fatal. The images on the screens are impressed on my conscious and subconscious mind, they mould me into their image and likeness. I am one with the Matrix.

My ears hear the toast of the Matrix commander-in-chief who personally inaugurates the "New Era". But suddenly a voice interrupts this universal, rebellious, orgy-like party. With the strength that comes from desperation, I turn... my eyes struggle to focus on an alcove jutting out from the central aisle of the cathedral. I make out a simple young man who is speaking. His clothes are white and his face shines. He has a secure and smiling, strong and humble, courageous and loving air about him. His arms are open as a sign of welcome and his message is clear and simple: "Come out of the Matrix because Jesus is coming to take you home!"

I gather my last strengths and cry out to God. I grasp breathlessly to this last heave of liberty from my soul. The Spirit of Jesus whispers into my ear telling me that I am living in the last days, just before His glorious return, days in which the citizens of the Matrix wander from the faith, giving heed to deceiving spirits and the doctrines of DEMONS. I understand that the Matrix is not my home. I realize that this cathedral, as impressive as it is false, is not the house of God. I understand that only outside of the Matrix can I encounter Jesus, He who conquered the Matrix and has an eternal plan for me.

With eyes closed, arms and legs paralyzed and my heart in my throat, I cry out: "Jesus, I'm with you! Free me and take me home!" My soul takes a deep breath and is reborn, hope pervades every cell in my body, my mind rediscovers its brilliant lucidity.

The zombies that fill the cathedral assail me, they spit on me and deride me. The secret dossiers of the authorities label me as a Jesus fanatic. Suddenly the supreme leaders declare me an outlaw! My credentials to buy, sell, work... to exist are taken away. The Matrixian masses too, declare me public enemy number one and my old friends, acquaintances and relatives turn against me.

I find myself abandoned and with no food. Only the clothes on my back seem to belong to me. I no longer have any future prospects or dignity. The Matrix repudiates me, erases me. But suddenly an ANGEL comes close, embraces me and uplifts my soul with his smile and warmth.

He tells me he was sent by Jesus especially for me, that I am under his protection and he offers me food. Refreshed physically, emotionally and spiritually, I resume my struggle and start to exhort the zombies to accept Jesus, thus pulling the plug on the DEMONS that enslave them and freeing them from the Matrixian virus that is as subtle and odorless as it is virulent and fatal.

Many laugh in my face, but one, with tears in his eyes, throws himself into the darkness grasping only to the lamp of hope lit by me. I see him come out of the Matrixian temple, abandon the false cathedral. Amazed, I witness his genetic mutation: from zombie to new, living creature. His clothes miraculously become white and immaculate, his face shines. I almost seem to confuse him with Jesus' ANGELS who surround and protect him.

Suddenly, the whole earth trembles. I hear a trumpet sound, a sound that splits the conspiracy of silence that mysteriously pervades everything around me. I see the whole Matrix empire crumble... the cathedral implodes like the walls of Jericho. The zombies start to seek refuge in the dens and caves. The kings of the Matrix, together with their commander-in-chief, have terror written all over their faces. They are incredulous, impotent, humiliated... annulled.

I start to make out other fans of Jesus who like me have been re-clothed and protected. Their gaze is fixed towards the sky. I also turn to look at the sky and notice that a small cloud is approaching, getting bigger and bigger. The more the minutes pass by, the more my eyes distinguish hoards of angels in the cloud surrounding someone seated on a throne. His light is infinitely more powerful than that of the sun, but strangely my eyes are not affected. On the contrary, they recognize Him, He who created, loved and saved me and is returning to take me back home!!!

My whole being rejoices: "Yes, the wait is over!" My body starts to lift off the earth accompanied by my ANGEL who finally introduces himself as my guardian angel, the one who has been present at every moment of my life. I fly toward my Redeemer Jesus while planet earth gets smaller and smaller behind me.

Jesus is there, yes it really is Him... His smile, His embrace and His gentle voice. He calls me by name, caresses my cheek and tells me, "You're finally home!"

Angels or demons?

“It must have been an angel” I often hear people say when they have experienced something good and believe they have witnessed a miracle. The issue of angels is more topical than ever today; everyone is talking about it. Both in the past and in the present the existence and mission of angels have always aroused great interest. Numerous paranormal events like UFO sightings, apparitions, dreams and more are often attributed to angels.

Today I find on the market a vast range of material on angels: books, magazines, DVDs and more. A day doesn't go by without the mass-media, the press, cinema and advertising mentioning angels. I must however admit, in spite of myself, that all this has caused no little confusion about the existence of angels and their invisible world. Many of the things written and said about angels are the product of pure human fantasy and have absolutely nothing to do with what the Bible says about them.

The Bible makes many statements about the existence of these supernatural powers that influence, inscrutably, men's lives and therefore also influence mine. Evidently, they can be of divine origin i.e. “presided over” by God, who, in His all-knowing wisdom, intervenes in the lives of His creatures to save, free and heal them according to a loving, fatherly plan that He carries out in their favor: “Indeed, I know the thoughts I have for you,” says God: “thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you an expected end” (see Jeremiah 29:11).

These powers can also be of demonic origin i.e. “presided over” by the prince of the Matrix, the leader of the rebellious angels. He too, since the moment he rebelled against his Creator, has been carrying out a precise plan: to keep men, by any stratagem, far from Jesus, the only one who can save them; indeed, Jesus Himself affirms: “I am the way, the truth and the life; no one comes to the Father except by me” (John 14:6).

This does not mean that the prince of the Matrix tries to stop me from having a religion; quite the contrary! Even “in the last days” (see 2 Timothy 3:1), in difficult times, “even though the fans of the Matrix will be selfish, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, ungrateful, unholy, insensitive, disloyal, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of what is good, traitors, inconsiderate, arrogant, lovers of pleasure more than of God” (v. 2-4), they will not give up religion. Indeed, in the next verse I am told that they will have “the appearance of fans of Jesus although they have denied His power”. They will have their religion made up of rituals and outer practices, barren, devoid of the power that transforms my character into the image and likeness of Jesus and brings me out of the Matrix.

In the Matrix, invisible to my eyes, between the angels of the Lord (from now on, ANGELS) and the rebel angels (DEMONS from now on), battles take place that can last days and even weeks. These battles started in heaven before the definitive expulsion of the prince of the Matrix and will continue on planet earth until the soon return of Jesus. I haven't the slightest idea of what goes on in the air between the ANGELS and the DEMONS. Every time Jesus wants to free His fans from their slavery to the prince of the Matrix, a battle automatically ensues.

Oh, if my eyes could only see these conflicts over me between the forces of good and the forces of evil, I would certainly be more humble and grateful! But I want to see some of these battles more closely. I want to discover more about the real presence of the ANGELS on earth among men, their mission, their powers, their limits, but above all I want to learn to distinguish the ANGELS from the DEMONS. The stakes are too high to remain ignorant.

Lucifer. The lightbearer

God created Lucifer good, with a noble appearance and very handsome. He is a lot like God. God also gives him wonderful talents and entrusts him with high-level important roles of great significance among all the ANGELS without ever asking too much of him. Lucifer is the most important cherub, the most majestic of all the created beings in heaven. He is closest of all to the throne of God and has the most intimate relationship with Him. He is clothed in the glory, majesty and power of God. The name Lucifer, which God Himself chooses for him, literally means “Lightbearer”.

“Lucifer is the seal of perfection, full of wisdom, perfect in beauty; he is in the garden of Eden, God’s garden. He is in charge of music in heaven; tambourines and flutes are at his service, prepared for him the day he was created. Lucifer is a cherub with outspread wings, a protector. He is perfect in his ways since the day he was created, until the spark of evil is found in him” (see Ezekiel 28:12-15).

Lucifer is the most important cherub, the most majestic of all the created beings in heaven.

Big Bang. The spark of evil

Although God created Lucifer very handsome and although he had granted him great honor among the ANGELS, he did not deny him the freedom to choose evil. It was within his power to use his gifts negatively. He could have continued to live for the glory of God, loved and honored by all the ANGELS. His capabilities could have been a continual blessing for the other created beings and given God great glory. However, he starts to seek more and more personal glory and to exploit his power to rouse admiration and attention. He also lets the ANGELS he leads serve him rather than submitting themselves to God's will.

Bit by bit, the desire for vainglory stirs up within him... Despite the fact that his splendor comes from God, he believes he can make it on his own. He begins to believe that his intelligence comes not from God but from himself. Thus, he convinces himself that he deserves the same honor and power as God. So the kingdom of chaos is born, in opposition to God's harmonious kingdom.

Lucifer is convinced that he is greatly loved by the ANGELS. He holds a high position among them but... within his heart he longs to become like God. He feels pleased with himself and his ambitious aims. He knows he can count on the full esteem of the ANGELS. His great responsibilities earn him respect. Lucifer has always lived in the presence of God's throne and so a brilliant light surrounds him. With great joy he takes note of the fact that the ANGELS obey his orders. Aren't his robes marvelous and full of splendor? Why should Jesus be preferred to him?

The ANGELS acknowledge Jesus' authority with joy and direct their love and adoration towards Him. Lucifer bows down together with all the others, but within his heart a strange and terrible conflict is now under way. Honesty, justice and loyalty battle with envy and jealousy... pride torments him. He feels a deep need for power and dominion and so, envy of Jesus starts to take over. Lucifer begins his career as “the prince of the Matrix”, giving rise to the Big Bang of evil, beginning to stir up rebellion and provoke doubt in the ANGELS who are under his command. He manages to deceive many ANGELS before his true intentions come to light. He is completely taken with the ambition to achieve the same honor and authority that were conferred by God the Father to God the Son, Jesus. The great cherub becomes jealous and envious of Jesus and tries to convince his ANGELS, who are under his majestic authority, that the honor he deserves as the holder of high office is not being bestowed on him. Through malicious, ambiguous comments, Lucifer sows doubt in the heart of the ANGELS regarding Jesus’ authority, which, according to him, he deserved to receive.

Lucifer starts his career
as “the prince of the Matrix”, giving rise to the Big Bang of evil.

By criticizing God, Lucifer slowly gains favor with some of his peers. Subtly sowing doubt, he manages to stir up a certain degree of malcontent in the hearts of many ANGELS. He takes that malcontent and makes himself its spokesman at the council of the angelic hosts. Thus he ably makes everyone believe that the dissatisfaction is generalized.

Lucifer discovers he has a great advantage over his Creator when it comes to making his peers believe something. God cannot lie and He cannot influence the conscience of His creatures. Lucifer, on the other hand, can lie and fully takes advantage of this enormous benefit. He is so able in his maneuvers that he effectively hides his real intentions. The ANGELS who do not unite in his protest are labeled indifferent to their peers' problems. This way he manages to blame them for his own faults. His method consists of confounding the reality of the divine government with malicious, ambiguous arguments. He ably hides the truth, turning the reality of the divine intentions upside down. Furthermore, his high position which allows him a certain closeness to God's throne gives him great credibility and gives weight to his conjectures.

God cannot lie to His creatures. Lucifer, on the other hand, can lie and fully takes advantage of this.

Lucifer's attempt to destroy the law and image of God before the inhabitants of heaven initially meets with a certain degree of success. Many ANGELS allow themselves to be deceived by his words. However, his apparent victory concludes with a stinging defeat, which, as its consequence, causes separation from God and exile from heaven. Unfortunately, the inhabitants of planet earth, on the other hand, offer him welcome. The Big Bang of evil propagates its rebellious waves on my planet and Lucifer thus becomes Earth's illegitimate prince, leading me, its' original administrator, to waive my right. The final objective is to get Jesus, the owner (Psalm 24:1), to waive His claims to this planet He created, recognizing Lucifer as its new and definitive owner.

Michael. The archangel

Jesus, who is and always will be God and Creator like the Father, voluntarily descends to the ANGELS' level at the creation of the angelic realm becoming their supreme leader...

the archangel Michael. I discover that God the Son, by coming to earth and incarnating Himself as man, descends for the second time, once again humbly and voluntarily, from God the Son and Michael the ANGEL to Jesus the man... from Creator and chief of the heavenly armies to Savior of His creation, the human race. Lucifer, on the other hand, wants to rise from creature to the rank of creator. Envy springs up in his heart: "he wants at all costs to be equal to the Most High" (see Isaiah 14:14). He wants Jesus' position, Son of God, at all costs. What a difference between the humility of Jesus the Creator and the arrogance of Lucifer the creature!

God the Father tries to dissuade Lucifer, to no avail. He is banished but he still has free access to God's throne until Jesus' death on the cross. After the resurrection Jesus ascends victorious to His Father in heaven. Indeed, Jesus defeats death and the forces of evil with His sacrifice. The Bible (Revelation 4) describes the enthronement of Jesus who sits on the right hand of God the Father. But before all this happens, the prince of the Matrix is definitively expelled from heaven, unfortunately by force, with his whole host of DEMONS. I read: "And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon. The dragon and his angels fought, but they did not prevail and there was no more place for them in heaven. The great dragon, that old serpent called the devil and the prince of the Matrix, the deceiver of the whole world, was cast down to earth and his demons were cast out with him" (see Rev 12:7-9).

Although the ANGELS are more numerous and stronger than the DEMONS, the intervention of the archangel Michael, chief of the whole heavenly army, was crucial. Now preparation is under way for the great, final battle before the glorious return of God the Son, archangel Michael to the ANGELS, Jesus Christ to me.

In the last cosmic battle between good and evil, the prince of lies, in order to deceive Jesus' fans, will resort to his capacity to perform great marvels, wonders and signs (see Matt 24:24; Rev 13:13), but God will intervene, as always, as the chief of the heavenly hosts, Michael, and will win: "At that time Michael will stand up, the great chief, the defender of your people's children; ...and your people will be saved" (Daniel 12:1). Signs and wonders, then, are the great and powerful arms in the hands of the prince of lies, the one who passes himself off as god, creator, bringer of light and friend to the human race. These signs and wonders hide a secret of vital importance for me. They conceal and guard the original lie, a mortal poison for my soul. All this is contained in the following top secret X-files that the prince of darkness has been covering up for millennia. But the time has come to unmask the rebel angel, deciphering his X-files. Jesus will guide me in this spiritual battle through His powerful ANGELS.

What a difference between the humility of Jesus the Creator and the pride of Lucifer the creature!

X-File I: Magic

Going beyond the limits of the visible somehow makes me curious, stimulates me... it's exciting. My ancestors, to discover the world that surrounded them, to try to dominate it, often turned to magic, to then pass, over the ages, to witchcraft, alchemy, the occult, the esoteric... A common phenomenon: the need for magic. But once the threshold of the invisible has been crossed, I risk falling into the trap of dependence, until I'm possessed by these practices and the entities that control and exercise them. This is a very dangerous game, even though to my inexperienced eyes the most widespread X-files might seem innocent and innocuous, such as for example:

- Superstition – Irrational belief and religious fear of supernatural things.
- Amulets or Talismans – Any object I carry with me out of superstition to preserve me from harm or danger.
- Cartomancy – The assumption that the future can be discerned through tarot cards.
- The pendulum – It is believed that the future can be told through its oscillations...
- Chiromancy – The art by which, by the observation of the lines of my hand, I assume I can discern my qualities and foresee the events that will take place in my life.
- Hypnosis – Artificially induced sleep which leaves free access to my mind.
- Necromancy – Divination through the dead and the beseeching of their souls.
- Typtology – The interpretation of the rapping sounds on the tables at séances.

If I think that “magic” is merely synonymous with ignorance or superstition, then I haven’t yet given a careful look at the following X-files of the prince of the Matrix. If I do, I’ll discover that attraction to the unknown and the invisible pushes me into a fatal trap for my soul. Anything but innocuous, inoffensive games.

X-File II: Spiritism

Through spiritism paranormal phenomena certainly occur but not thanks to the assumed and never scientifically proven or found psychic faculties of the brain but due to the indulgence of invisible entities.

Often those who believe in spiritism and its allure are those who have managed to maintain almost intact feelings of love, brotherhood, solidarity, deep religiousness. I might therefore be tempted to believe that spiritism is the right answer to man’s highest aspirations. I need to believe; to believe that life is not just an illusion; to believe, above all, in order to not fear death. This is the main reason that millions of people have turned to spiritism: the hope of being able to still speak with a deceased loved one. The temptation is irresistible: faith is placed in the entities because they confess their closeness to Jesus and demonstrate that the main mission of their apparitions is to console the human race. But is this really true? Are these entities ANGELS or are they companions of the first rebel angel, DEMONS?

Very often the so-called ‘entities of light’ love to credit themselves by referring to the elements and doctrines of faith in Jesus. I hear talk of entities who live in close contact with Jesus Himself; others are the announcers of Jesus' mother; a large number are spirits who inform me that they have been sent to spur me on to read the Bible and so on. It turns out that Christianity is not the only subject of the mediums' drawing rooms: agnostic spirits also often have a peek there, but so do ecumenical, Hindu, Buddhist and even lay ones. How can I not be perplexed by so much confusion; that's ok on earth but I expected better from heaven. Instead, I note that even in the hereafter there are parishes, groups and parties: weren't these seductive ANGELS all in contact with the only true God? If God is absolute truth, then the entities prove they don't know Him at all.

X-File III: Astrology

It doesn't take much to get people to believe, because people want to believe. All men tend to be more or less credulous. There are always lots of "April fool's" victims; there are legions of tricksters and scroungers often take advantage of the blind faith of those who allow themselves to be deceived. This tendency to be gullible often implies a blind faith in 'those who know'. This is the secret behind the success of astrology in general and of horoscopes in particular. Astrology is the art that proposes to predict future events through the observation of the stars and planets and presumes to discover the influences of the stars on man and the things of the world. I cannot consider astrology a science, a serious philosophy or even a valid aid to psychology. So it's simply a branch of magic. What part does God have in astrological predictions? Can there be encounter and convergence between the astrological and biblical doctrines? I start to investigate the Bible's Old Testament.

I can find a first testimony of the encounter of the people of Israel with astrological practices in the 32nd chapter of Exodus. It narrates the experience of the people of Israel led by Moses in the desert to flee Egyptian tyranny, camped at the foot of Mount Sinai waiting to receive the Ten Commandments from God. Moses, who had climbed the mount to receive the Tables of the Law, is taking a long time to descend. The people become impatient and construct an idol to worship: a golden calf. The Israelites could only have seen this figure in Egypt; and indeed it was the perfect copy of the Egyptian astrological god 'Taurus'. When Moses sees the calf he ignites with anger and throws the tablets of the commandments from his hands, breaking them at the foot of the mountain. Then he takes the calf they had made, burns it with fire, reduces it to dust, sprinkles the dust on the water and makes the children of Israel drink it.

Another story in the Bible makes it clear to me that it was not astrological calculations, or any divinatory practice that helped Daniel to reveal to King Nebuchadnezzar his dream and give him its correct interpretation and God's prophet recognizes this: "Blessed be the name of the Lord... For wisdom and strength are His... He gives wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to those with intellect... He reveals the deep and hidden things; He knows what is in the shadows and light dwells with Him". And to the same king, the prophet will say: "The secret that the king asks neither wise men, nor soothsayers, nor magicians, nor astrologers can reveal to the king... what will happen in the last days" (Daniel 2:20-22+27-29).

I therefore discover very clearly that astrology and the Bible do not get on very well together. On the contrary, the most important Bible characters vehemently opposed the infiltration of astrology among their people.

X-File IV: Reincarnation

The law of Karma! How much misery has been caused and continues to be caused by this Matrixian idea. It teaches that life is only suffering to be atoned and to bear; it urges towards fatalism and resignation; it denies man of any aspiration to joy; it frustrates him in all his attempts to plan and arrange for his future; it renders him void of social, moral and intellectual interests; destroys every seed of altruism, bending man only over himself and his suffering, forcing him to concentrate continually on the preoccupation of avoiding wrong steps in order not to prolong the cycle of rebirths.

The law of Karma involves no options of 'sin' or 'judgment'. There is no personal God who judges, and there is no judgment. Pardon for sin cannot be conceived of, nor mercy and understanding for those who fall victim to the tentacles of sin; no redemption: therefore, no salvation.

In the biblical vision the categories of 'good' and 'evil' are in opposition and well distinguished. Karma, on the other hand, eliminates the idea of God, leaving man with the fatal illusion of being responsible, not to a moral code, but only to himself. The doctrine of reincarnation urges man to feel and make himself a god to himself. Throughout the doctrine of reincarnation, the only absentee is God Himself.

It is written: "It is established that men die only once" (Hebrews 9:27), after which each man will have the immense joy of meeting God, who will "dry every tear and heal all pain" (see Revelation 21:4). So the doctrine of reincarnation is, in every respect, the disintegration of the God who I know as a fan of Jesus. If I adventure onto its slopes, besides not encountering the true God, I often don't even encounter myself.

Today, in this life, the only one I have, I am given the possibility of knowing God. It is easy to choose an idol as a travelling companion when my earthly horizon threatens only clouds, delusion, bitterness, defeat, desperation; it is easy to look ‘elsewhere’. It is easy to fall into the vice-like grip of a false god when, disappointed, discouraged, or perhaps just curious, I let myself be blinded by the sparkle of promises as enticing as they are fictitious. Sects, holy men, gurus, paragnostics of every sort, are ready to swell the ranks of their followers with more and more new victims.

X-File V: A goddess “Made in the Matrix”

Mary, Jesus’ earthly mother, was a wonderful woman... blessed among women. Mary was a simple young woman, but she knew how to read and write. She, called in the Bible the servant of the Lord, was a humble woman and very poor, but deeply devout and pious. Mary lived in Galilee, in the town of Nazareth, a town with a bad reputation, and was (still a virgin) betrothed to marry Joseph. Mary, “favored by divine grace”, was chosen to be the mother of Jesus, Son of God incarnate. She, surprised, felt very honored by the message from the marvelous ANGEL Gabriel, but was left perplexed and reacted with embarrassment, only progressively understanding her son Jesus’ mission (Mark 3:21).

Mary was always conscious of being made by her Creator and thus of needing God’s grace. She considered herself a blessed woman and was happy to have been saved by grace. Mary never placed herself on the same level as Jesus and did not consider herself a mediator between God and men. Furthermore, she never made people worship and/or pray to her and never even expected it: in all the encounters with Jesus, only He was ever worshipped. So I ask myself how it can be that in the Matrix today two million Hail Marys are recited every day. Why do every year millions of people of every race, tongue and creed visit Lourdes to drink from its healing waters? Why do more than 10 million go to Guadeloupe to pray to Jesus' earthly mother?... Why the apparitions? What is it about Mary?

There is no doubt that her loving messages and maternal apparitions attract the masses. One of the most intriguing aspects of the recent rise in Mary's popularity is precisely this: in a restless world, the emotional need for her is so irresistible that even people who do not have an evident bond with her are attracted. What's more, there is another aspect of the apparitions that is drawing many: I do not marvel that in the last decades, with the continuous investigation into the supernatural, people feel attracted by miracles. But I want to ask myself: is it really Mary or is there a false copy of Jesus' mother in circulation?

Carefully reading the Gospel I notice how harsh Jesus was with His mother; recalling the gospel passage that recounts the episode of the wedding in Canaan. Jesus and His mother are invited by the bride and groom; at a certain point during the festivities, the wine runs out. Mary, realizing this, tries to prompt Jesus to do something about it. Her son's reply seems, indeed, standoffish: "What have I to do with you, woman?" (John 2:4). It seems rude, but it isn't. Jesus was simply putting the protagonists of the marvelous story that is the Gospel in their right places. Jesus is the Messiah, the Savior, not Mary. Jesus has a mission to accomplish for the human race and this is why He was sent by the Father; Mary was the human "means" chosen by the Most High. Jesus is God incarnate; Mary is, and always will be, a created being. And yet the Matrixian theologians have promoted her so much as to obscure God the Son and God the Father Himself. Some continue to believe that it is better to heed the “thus saith the people” than the gospel “thus saith the Lord”!

No, Jesus is not rude to His mother: as a true prophet He had already seen, through the centuries, what would have been made of His mother: a goddess. Jesus loves His mother but He makes sure to add: “Whoever does the will of my Father is my mother and my brother” (Matthew 12:50). And the fact that Jesus loves His mother is demonstrated on the cross: He calls His disciple, John, to look after her, as her son, for the rest of her life. It is true; Mary is mentioned few times in the Gospel; certainly never as a goddess.

The figure of Mary is full of emotional and psychological meaning for a great mass of the faithful. She is the heavenly mother who protects from an apparently unapproachable God who is often too angry. She is the symbol of the cradle, of protection and of mediation. But since all this corresponds to a somewhat emotional logic, it has no foundation in the Word of God. The Bible indeed tells me: “And in no other is there salvation; for there is no other name under heaven by which we can be saved” (Acts 4:12). No other name: not even that of Mary. How did the Marian exaggeration come about in the Matrix?

I discover, with great amazement, from history that the Matrixian practice of goddess worship is common to almost every tribe, tongue, religion and nation of the world. There is no end to the amount of documents on the importance of the female divinities in the Matrixian religions and cultures. Nowadays hundreds of millions of individuals all over the planet believe in at least one goddess. In the belief systems of all these religions the role of female divinities is central and the veneration of goddesses of nature or of fertility is a consequence.

But the most interesting fact is that many believe that it is the same goddess, a goddess with many different titles, who has been called by different names over the various eras. Apparently this goddess has been venerated all over the world for millennia. Although she is presented with different titles, many researchers believe that it is the same entity. There is no doubt that her appeal transcends religious and cultural barriers and, according to her own predictions, the climax of her mission is approaching. And also from the Bible I learn that God's people repeatedly worshipped a mysterious "Queen of the Heavens" – known in Bible times as Astarte, Ashtoreth, Asherah, Ishtar, Venus or Diana. As I discover, thanks to the following Bible quotation, God used strong words to refer to the Queen of the Heavens and her fans. Indeed, the prophet Isaiah warns me about a deceptive woman called the "virgin daughter of the Matrix" and "the lady of the realms", who would be unmasked and punished by God. Isaiah chapter 47 describes how this queen will lose her throne and be cast into the shadows. The virgin daughter of the Matrix proclaims that she will be queen for ever but God tells her that she does not remember how things will end i.e. that she will be completely destroyed. Isaiah's prophecy assures me that this will occur in a moment.

What other "lady" (Isaiah 47:5) enchants God's people (Isaiah 47:6-9), comes as a "queen" with a throne (Isaiah 47:1), shows herself all over the world as tender, delicate and beautiful (Isaiah 47:1), is hiding her true nature (Isaiah 47:2), wants to be elected "co-redeemer" (Isaiah 47:3,4), proclaims herself the "lady of the realms" (Isaiah 47:5), declares that she is the "mother of all humanity" (Isaiah 47:8) and deceives God's people with her sorcery and spells (Isaiah 47:9)?

This "lady", who affirms to be the mother of the human race, is deceiving many fans of Jesus with her signs and wonders. Admitting that she still has not revealed herself to the world in the fullness of her glory, she predicts signs and heavenly wonders which all the world will soon witness.

The messages from the apparitions of this mysterious entity encourage her fans to believe that there are various ways to reach heaven. This false doctrine is well received by the majority of the citizens of the Matrix but it contradicts the clear Bible teaching according to which Jesus is the only way. Only Jesus is the door to heaven: “I am the way; if any man enters by me, he will be saved” (John 10:9). Tragically, Jesus Himself predicts that many will seek to enter heaven by a different “door”, by another way. Therefore, Mary, the true earthly mother of Jesus, cannot be behind these apparitions, signs and wonders. So this indecipherable, ambiguous entity does not have the passport to heaven.

X-File VI: Ufo

Reading the thousands of UFO “communications” received by hundreds of those who have been contacted, the least that can happen is that I’m left perplexed. Just as with the spiritualist communications, from spaceships too messages arrive for the most assorted tastes: extolling God, the cosmic Christ, an atheist conception of existence, a new esoteric philosophy, a rational-technological affirmation of the spirit, and so on. The interstellar consumers do not care if these messages, all proclaimed by wise characters, more often than not contradict one another, often cancelling one another. The rivalry between “Christian” and “atheist” extraterrestrials surprises me; but I would never have imagined that many of them would also be devotees of the cult to the presumed mother of Jesus. But don’t they all come from the same heaven? Don’t they all know the same God and the same, sole Truth?

Religious manifestations have always been accompanied by UFO phenomena (rotating suns, lights in the sky, etc). But what is the meaning of this UFO-religion union? And in the final analysis, 'who' is manipulating, with the apparitions of a goddess, my religious beliefs? And above all, to what aim? The apparitions of the self-styled mother of Jesus, over recent years, are becoming an 'epidemic'. True brain washing. It has all the appearance of a world program of 'indoctrinating' the masses destined to intensify over time.

However I look at it, the issue is unclear: I need a "pole-star" to indicate me with certainty the pole of Good and the pole of evil. Only thanks to a firm, absolute point of reference will I be able to distinguish the ANGELS from the DEMONS. I want to discover if this star exists.

Only Jesus is the way to heaven: "I am the way; if anyone enters by me, he will be saved".

North star. The Bible

About forty people with different cultures, sensitivity, social backgrounds and means of expression have contributed to write the sacred book. Despite this characteristic, the Bible presents an extremely high degree of harmony and literary unity. Kings, priests, farmers, shepherds, doctors, teachers, men of the law, historians, men of state, etc have contributed to its writing, which lasted sixteen centuries. This assortment does not damage or diminish the value of the message; the miracle lies here. Where could such unity in vision, structure, message and doctrine, despite the centuries and numerous instruments necessary for its writing, have come from? There is only one answer to this question: the Scriptures actually have only one Author, the Holy Spirit. There is one Revelation through Him, because it is always the one true God speaking.

The Bible, therefore, could really be the “pole-star” I had been looking for, the solid, incontestable point of reference to weigh up every spiritualist claim, unmasking any DEMONS who might present themselves in angelic clothing.

What I want to discover is not so much the existence or not of the spirits but their origin... their “pole”. I note the contradiction: the spirits invite me to consult the Bible and the Bible prohibits me from consulting the spirits.

- I read in the book of Leviticus: “Do not turn to the spirits, or to soothsayers; do not consult them so that you will not be contaminated by them. I am the Lord your God” (Leviticus 19:31).
- And more: “...if anyone turns to the spirits and the soothsayers to prostitute themselves with them, I will turn my face away from that person..." (Leviticus 20:6).

• In the book of Deuteronomy too I find indications to this end "...you will not learn to imitate the abominable practices of those nations. Let none be found among you who... practice soothsaying, or astrology, or predict the future, or magicians or sorcerers, or those who consult the spirits, or tell fortunes, or necromancers, because the LORD detests all those who do such things" (Deuteronomy 18:9-12). There is a strange contrast between these biblical declarations and the spiritualist ones since the entities assume the responsibility of wanting to bring me to God and God in the Bible seems determined to want to take me far from their presence.

The Bible really could be the "pole-star" I had been looking for.

Messiah. Emmanuel

One peculiar characteristic about the Bible is the prophecies. Many of these regard the person and mission of Jesus; from them I learn that Jesus Himself is Prophet and Messiah, Son of God, Savior of the human race. No other prophet was ever described like this. No other prophet was ‘prophetically’ announced like Jesus was. More than three hundred passages in the Old Testament announce Jesus as the ‘liberator of the oppressed’, ‘redeemer from sin’.

Most of the prophecies in the Holy Scriptures have been fulfilled with astonishing precision; however there are some which are yet to be fulfilled: for example those regarding Jesus’ second coming to earth. But in their totality the prophecies always point to and confirm one person: Jesus Christ, the prophesied prophet, who was also familiar with and preached the prophecies. What the Bible said about Him has duly come to pass and Jesus explained this to His disciples with great simplicity: “These are the things that I told you when I was still with you: that all these things written about me in the law of Moses, the Prophets and the Psalms should come to pass” (Luke 24:44).

No other religious leader, no other prophet – real or presumed – was ever prophesied about as much as or in the same way as Jesus. No wise man, guru or human master ever said, did, prophesied to the degree, depth and veracity of Jesus. Although various men and women worthy of respect and admiration are to be found in the history of religious movements, none of them can assume the rights and titles attributed to Jesus: Son of God and Savior of the world.

The Bible confirms to me that He is Emmanuel (which translated means, “God with us”) and also “the Way, the Truth and the Life” (John 14:6).

3*Immortals.
The promise

According to my pole-star, the first lie to which the human race was exposed, is that pronounced by the serpent to Eve in the garden of Eden. “No, you will not surely die” (Genesis 3:4).

And the echo of this original lie still resounds today in all four corners of the Matrix.

The religion of the old serpent founds its whole doctrinal structure of the supposition of a life beyond the earthly life and the existence of an immortal soul. That allows its fans to believe that many of the entities evoked in the séances are the souls of their dear loved ones. This is absolutely impossible. Indeed, my pole-star never talks about an immortal soul. I want to retrace the chronology of the original lie. The first book of the Bible, Genesis, informs me that man, created free, chose to live independently of the laws and advice of God; immortality was conditional to this obedience: “And the Lord God gave the man this commandment: ‘You may eat freely of the fruit of all the trees in the garden; but do not eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil because in the day that you eat of it you will surely die’” (Genesis 2:16-17). So my forefathers, by eating the fruit, made themselves independent from God, wanting to decide for themselves what is good and what is evil; the operation had no success and my world encountered evil, distance from the source of life.

And it is due to this voluntary distancing of the creature from the Creator, the only source of life, that man inevitably encounters death, indeed losing the wonderful gift of immortality. This initial state of immortality cannot be reacquired through ‘gnosis’, ‘techniques’ or ‘initiations’; I can no longer have access to it, except under modified conditions, which I will see later. “And so God sent the man away from the garden of Eden, and placed cherubim with a flaming sword at the east of the garden to guard the tree of life” (see Genesis 3:24). Its simplicity, with admirable profoundness, the Bible thus describes to me the condition of man. A tragic condition, had it not been for God Himself who found a ‘remedy’: the Messiah Savior, Jesus.

In the Holy Scriptures the adjective ‘immortal’ is mentioned only once: “Now unto the King of the ages, immortal, invisible, God only” (1st Timothy 1:17), with clear reference to the Creator. On the other hand, the noun ‘immortality’ is mentioned five times and never applied to the present nature of man. In conclusion, the only immortal being is God Himself: “...the King of kings, Lord of lords, who only possesses immortality” (1st Timothy 6:16).

“The soul that sins will die”, the prophet Ezekiel (18:20) reminds us. Therefore, there is no life of the soul after death. The philosophical doctrine of the soul cannot be found anywhere in the Bible. The Bible does not recognize the expression ‘immortality of the soul’ and knows nothing about this Matrixian dogma. The philosophical theory of the immortality and indestructibility of the human soul is completely alien to the biblical vision.

What the Bible puts clearly into perspective is that Jesus, with His sacrifice, gave back to the creature the possibility of eternal life:

- “The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life in Jesus Christ, our Lord” (Romans 6:23).
- “God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in Him might not perish but have everlasting life” (John 3:16).
- “God has given us eternal life and this life is His Son. Whoever has the Son has life; whoever does not have the Son does not have life” (1st John 5:11-12).

With a great quantity of texts my pole-star teaches me unequivocally that I should seek immortality, constantly following the example and character of Jesus.

The Matrixian doctrine of the immortality of the soul is the negation on every level of the fundamental dogmas of the Church of Jesus. Not only of the Resurrection but above all of the creation. Because an immortal soul is not created. According to the different Platonic doctrines, according to all the great Matrixian mythologies, which are indeed their perfect consequence, the soul was never created, it is an emanation of divinity, a particle, a divine spark, fallen into and imprisoned in a body and liberated from that body at death, it returns to blend with divinity. Thus death is no longer a curse, no longer the wages of sin, quite the contrary. It is a liberation.

It is from the lying Matrixian rivers that the idea of the immortality of the soul insinuates itself among God's people. Supported by the Platonic conception of the hereafter, the doctrine of immortality plants itself first in Alexandrian Judaism and later, thanks to Tertullian and Origen, in Christianity too.

But then where does man go after death? The Bible answers me affirming that human beings all descend into the 'place of silence', which it also calls the 'rest place of the dead' or Sheol-Hades. This place has nothing to do with 'paradise' or 'hell'. It is the place where the deceased, good and evil alike, wait in oblivion the day of the resurrection. In this place my deceased loved ones 'sleep', to use the biblical expression: "The living know that they will die; but the dead know nothing and there are no longer any wages for them; for their memory is forgotten. Their love, like their hate and their envy have long been lost; and they no longer have, no ever will have, any part in all that is done under the sun... All that your hand finds to do, do it with all your might, because in the rest place of the dead where you will go, there is no work, nor knowledge and no wisdom" (Ecclesiastes 9:5-10).

If the dead...

- Do not “live” but, as the Bible affirms, await in the tomb to be resurrected at the final judgment, then I cannot attribute to them the production of paranormal phenomena.
- “Sleep”, I cannot attribute them with the action of moving tables and audio incisions on magnetic tapes.
- “Rest”, the characters that appear during the séances are able counterfeiters, liars, who have no regard for the feelings and affection that bind the living to the dead but take advantage of their memory and often their appearance for ignoble purposes.

No deceased person can ever appear to anyone; the Lord God says so. And if spiritism has allowed the contrary to be asserted for millennia, then I must deduce that spiritism is in contrast to the Father of the universe.

I reach the conclusion that the doctrine of the immortality of the soul is the most potent deception that the DEMONS have used against the human race from the dawn of history.

The Matrixian doctrine of the immortality of the soul is the negation on all levels of the fundamental dogmas of the Church of Jesus.

It is from the mendacious Matrixian rivers that the idea of the immortality of the soul insinuates itself among God's people.

Jesus. The antidote

“Jesus is God”. Although ‘a man among men’, Jesus was equally God: “For in Him physically dwells all the fullness of the Deity” (Colossians 2:9). The entire Bible affirms this peremptorily. Without Him no redemption is possible; no spiritual progress is achievable. Outside of Him there is no saving truth. The life, the words, the sacrifice of Jesus are the antidote against eternal death. Jesus died so that I, man, could live. Jesus has bridged the abyss that separated my Creator from me, the creature: this is the Gospel.

From the hereafter, on the other hand, come, besides the consolatory promises of eternal life, echoes of a war of supremacy between spiritual beings. As if on one side the entities of spiritism, acting as ‘saviors’ and ‘guides’ to humanity, want somehow to supplant and discredit the only true Savior.

This is the school of the spirits. In these classes, the name of Jesus is barely tolerated; His divinity completely neglected; the testimonies of the theologians, of the church fathers, of the apostles, grossly distorted and mendaciously repackaged for a purpose and aim that no longer even have the tones of a farce. It would suffice me to reread the original texts to avoid the humiliation of being scoffed at by whoever's turn it is to do the imitation. This is how I learned from the 'messengers from the hereafter' of a Jesus who escaped to India; who never died on the cross; married to Mary Magdalene; the first Templar; a medium and even an extra-terrestrial.

The life, the words, the sacrifice of Jesus are the antidote to eternal death.

CHRONICLES OF MYSTERY

CHAPTER 4

Twilight. The dawn of a new gospel

Is the gospel of the spirits the same Gospel of Jesus? Many citizens of the Matrix sincerely believe this, without ever taking the trouble to compare the Jesus of history to the nebulous images transmitted by the spirits. It is not infrequent to come across the case of people who, while ignoring everything with a biblical content, accept as true words, advice, orders from one of the many spirit 'Jesuses'. These people accept everything as truth without realizing that most of the 'revelations' of the spirit Jesus are in strict contrast with the Revelation of Jesus Christ in the Bible. This same Bible to which the entities direct me with suspicious care.

The entities gloss too rapidly over fundamental Bible principles; as though the main message they want to deliver to me is: "We will comfort you telling you that we are of your same religion, but don't worry about it; think about what we tell you". Indeed it seems that the entities use the Bible only as a picklock to lower my resistance. After having gained my trust they inundate me with a deluge of advice, moralizing phrases, prohibitions and indications for every aspect of my life. The important thing is to keep me in suspense about the invisible and the spiritist events, not to let me reason or anything like that.

It is however clear to me that where the Bible places the accent on the indispensable help of God to grow spiritually, in the spiritist environment the emphasis is on the practice of an exhilarating self-purification. In clearer terms that means that spiritualism completely renounces the biblical revelation and Jesus' work; this means that in spiritism it is not possible to retrace any foundation to the biblical Gospel. It is to all effects another gospel... a new mystical, spiritual philosophy based on signs and wonders! And yet the entities swear the opposite is true. When the prince of the Matrix wants to sow evil, he starts by saying good, acceptable things. The ‘well said’ of the spirits often is equivalent to ‘half said’. As far as the Absolute Truth is concerned, a ‘half-truth’ is equivalent to lies, perhaps spiritual, but still lies. And yet thousands of sincere fans of Jesus, besides those who are not religious, agnostics and atheists are lead onto the slopes traced with spiritist revelations and walk there briskly, convinced of finally reaching ‘the Father’s House’. These people, while they rejoice over what they consider to be sublime discoveries, do not realize that they are being drawn in by the original lie. So, spiritualism, despite its claim of being a development of faith in Jesus, is only its flagrant contradiction.

It is written: “...even if an angel from heaven should preach a different gospel to the one we preach, he is anathema” (Galatians 1:8). Since the entities of spiritualism often love to define themselves ‘ANGELS’; since their ‘gospel’ does not correspond to the Gospel; it follows that they are ‘anathema’, i.e. ‘cursed’. Since spiritualism and occultism are “another doctrine”, my pole-star can rightly say that their doctrines are “doctrines of devils”. It does not affirm with a politically correct language that they are doctrines of the ‘initiated’ or ‘parapsychologists’, nor does it say they are ‘revelations from the dead’.

But how can it be that a fan of Jesus who believes in the biblical teaching could accept the gospel according to the Matrix? Nowadays few self-styled fans read the Word of their Master. Too often I myself make do with what is preached to me as biblical. I don’t always find it interesting to personally study the Bible. Here’s how Jesus wants to equip me to be able to distinguish the false from the true, the DEMONS from the ANGELS: “If you persevere in my word, you really are my fan; you know the truth and the truth will set you free” (see John 8: 31-32). And to grow in faith and develop greater insight I need to grasp strongly to the teachings of the Word of God. “To grasp” means to submit myself to Jesus’ teachings (or, let them govern my mental, physical and spiritual life). If I do this, then I can define myself His authentic fan. Therefore I will know the truth and it will set me free.

Charmer. Deceptive spirits

I want to be aware of the existence of spiritual creatures distinguished as good and evil. Each man is, as it were, invisibly accompanied by these spiritual creatures. The ANGELS follow Jesus, they are bound by the will of God and act in man’s favor; the DEMONS follow the prince of darkness and lies, acting in exactly the opposite way, in opposition to God and with the intention of destroying and leading His creatures like me astray. These DEMONS, perfidious enchanters that they are, to deceive me, use a precise tactic in three steps that aims to:

1. amaze me, stirring up the maximum of emotions to reduce the critical spirit to a minimum;
2. slowly gain my trust in order to render me receptive to the teachings they want me to believe;
3. make me accept their instructions without resistance. This is the phase of true brainwashing when the willing student is now ready to do whatever the invisible master suggests.

So, ANGELS and DEMONS are the invisible spectators of the unfolding of my earthly life. They are therefore, aware of all my actions, my failings and my victories, my vices and my virtues. These entities have no power to read my thoughts: they can however inspire them... If they are evil, they can manipulate, create anxiety, force, and possess my mind totally.

When an individual dies, the supernatural beings survive them or, better, they continue to live; and they are able, after even millennia, to preserve the 'memory' of the life of a person who they followed in invisibility for the duration of their entire existence. But there's more. These beings are able to 'represent' the character and the cultural and ethical characteristics of the deceased and even imitate their voice. This is what happens indeed in every séance. In the light of this it is easy to figure out how even the so-called 'experiences of memories' of a presumed reincarnated person are only the able tricks of deceiving spirits. The DEMONS are invisible, but they know how to take on countless forms and figures. Temptation is the simulation of good; it is the deception by which evil takes on the semblance of good, it is the confusion of good and evil. I can make out the existence of an 'occult plan' and a mysterious 'intelligence' that intends to remove my gaze from a sure source of salvation. But who is it exactly?

The DEMONS are invisible but they know how to take on countless forms and figures.

Playmaker. The director

It is astonishing to note how the UFO apparitions and those of the “goddess made in the Matrix” do not only have in common the signs that accompany them (physical, luminous, atmospheric, etc.) but also the periods in which the apparitions occur: the so-called ‘waves’. Coinciding with the phenomena that many attribute to the mother of Jesus, indeed, UFOs are sighted and photographed on location of the areas where the apparitions take place. Statistically analyzing the data regarding the various UFO waves from 1947 till today, I discover that, both the maximum peaks and the minimum peaks have an extraordinary superposition and synchrony with the manifestations of the Queen of the heavens. From complete graphs it emerges that the UFOs and the ‘goddess’ appeared, at the same time, in the great waves of 1947, 1950, 1954, 1968, until my days. So a phenomenon exists. But if there is a phenomenon, who is causing it? Who foreordained it? Is it the ‘goddess’ sponsoring the UFOs or are the UFOs promoting the ‘goddess’? Does someone want to indoctrinate me? All this cannot be chance or coincidence.

The Director, the sole intelligence behind all these phenomena and philosophies under examination, has created extreme confusion affirming everything and the contrary of everything, with the aim of destroying everything that is true. This enigmatic playmaker has demonstrated that he wants to:

- A. supplant, and often erase the figure of my Savior Jesus Christ;
  - B. relativize the importance of my pole-star: the biblical Revelation.
- To achieve his aim the Director has constantly used masks and lies. The UFO-goddess phenomena is only an example. An occult action of a camouflaged entity with the aim of deceiving the living. So they are the same entities which, having taken off the guise of the Queen of the heavens to convince the devotees of the mother of Jesus, clothe themselves in Martian diving suits to convince those who don't believe in the goddess. Indeed, it is not by chance that in the various waves registered up till now, the 'goddess' has appeared exclusively in Catholic, Latin countries while the UFOs, simultaneously, appeared in the ex-Soviet Union and the countries of northern Europe. As if to say: for those who don't like the idea of the goddess, the Director can always play the extraterrestrial card.

But who is this "occult, invisible director of the planet"?

Decoded. X-Files deciphered

As I have already seen, the Bible reveals that one day long ago in Eden, Lucifer put all his efforts into deceiving the first created beings; he used the trick, now discovered, of the "speaking and moving" image... the serpent. The following centuries have shown me numerous and varied other speaking images from the same "Director". In the darkness, this director, using a "deceptive screen" has masked himself taking on the guise of one of my loved ones to convince me of the possibility of entering into contact with the spirits and so offer himself 'in the place of'; he then disguised himself as a occultist, for the more refined palates trying to stir up in them the great desire for knowledge intrinsic to human nature and 'revealing' empty and muddled esoteric, occult, kabalistic, gnostic, hermetic knowledge, cramming the mind with pseudodiscoveries on numbers, metals, stones, flowers, pyramids, stars, waters: on everything except the Creator, the true and living God. The Director distracts me from God, filling me with fog and smoke.

For the less demanding, the prince of the Matrix, the enemy of God and man, has disguised himself as a paragnost, magician, medium, card reader; he has put on the clothes of the neurotic, hallucinating holy man; those of the thaumaturgist having understood that miracles and healing are more convincing than mere words. He has clothed himself as an “angel of light” to distribute grace and miracles like coins; to rapture man’s gaze both physically and spiritually: to rapture by hypnotizing, influencing, magnetizing in order to always direct it elsewhere, in the heavens, in a cave or under a leafy tree, in the darkness of a trance, among the clouds... as long as it’s always elsewhere. So that man continues to walk, over the centuries till the end of the world, not towards the ‘mark’, but towards an illusion; not as master and protagonist of his life but as in a trance, hanging by the threads of an invisible ‘puppet master’.

With the complicity of the shadows, of the invisibility, the prince of the Matrix gains advantage from appearing in the guise of an ANGEL, benefactor to humanity, entity of light, great initiate, supreme guide. In the dark he can continue to practice his ancient craft, lying, deceiving millions of human beings. Biting his tongue, certainly very difficult for him, he disguises himself as an apostle, saint, evangelist, doctor of the church, philosopher; even transmitting words and teachings that represent God and spiritual things in general. While he would naturally be urged to blaspheme God, he preaches Him, in the hope of destroying those who seek Him: the important thing is to preach only half the story. Even if his evilness prompts him to mock men, he contains himself and appears as their ‘loving’ guide, to get the strategy of getting me to stray from the only true Way to work. Even though he ardently desires the human race to be lost, he gives out moralistic advice in the attempt to adumbrate the plan of salvation that God has set up precisely to wrench me from the eternal death that comes from the bite of the ‘old serpent’.

The Adversary, he who the Bible defines “the great dragon, the old serpent, called the devil and the prince of darkness, the deceiver of the whole world” (Revelation 12:9) is sworn to a single mission: to lead men away from believing in and following Jesus, He who “...became to all those who obey Him, author of eternal salvation” (Hebrews 5:9, 10). It doesn’t matter how much men become religious, churchgoers or followers of Christian cults. It doesn’t matter how much they undertake charity and humanitarian works. What matters, to him, is that they do not invoke the name of Jesus to ask Him to forgive them and save them; “for whoever calls on the name of the Lord will be saved” (Romans 10:13). It might seem absurd, in the third millennium, to talk about demonic forces influencing men. But it is written: “We battle not against flesh and blood but principalities, powers, the rulers of darkness of this world, against the spiritual forces of evil in high places” (Ephesians 6:11, 12). And I no longer want to believe that it is anachronistic to use this biblical language. The times in which I live manifest too evidently and clearly that the “enemy” has been at work. I want to rather ask myself: has he been at work in me too? I want to discover if these chameleon-like DEMONS, disguised as ANGELS have also infiltrated my heart and mind.

The prince of the Matrix has disguised himself as an “angel of light”, to distribute grace and miracles like coins.

5*Possession.
Sold soul

Two thousand years ago Jesus met many people who were possessed by DEMONS. Often these people would foam at the mouth, showing evident traits of aggressiveness and scaring all those who encountered them. True monsters in human form. Today, though, it is very difficult to witness such evident events of “demon possession”. But is it really possible that in the third millennium the prince of the Matrix has become weaker or is tired of controlling human beings and the entire world to the point of total possession? Is it really possible that there are no longer any fans of the Matrix who sell their souls to the prince in exchange for money, power, fame and sex? Am I really sure?

The new generation of DEMONS does not show up with horns and a pitchfork. They don't even try to convince me with lying arguments. They don't even seem to speak to me. They do not use communication and persuasion. No. They will no longer run the risk that my brain and my conscience identify these attacks. The attack is subliminal and hypnotic... practically invisible. I can just about perceive it if my “spiritual eyes” are well trained and alert. Its subliminal nature stems from the fact that they avoid communicating with my brain, bypassing it with manipulative, deceptive techniques. Rather, its hypnotic nature derives from its omnipresence in the Matrixian society. The Matrix is invaded by advertising that stimulates me and puffs up my image. It whispers to me that “everything revolves around ME”. The Matrix is full of films that incite me to unleash my basest passions. The Matrix is full of music that exalts my rebellious spirit. The Matrix is pervaded by games and entertainment that stimulate my destructive aggressiveness, thus inebriating my conscience.

The Matrixian possessed does not look mad or show outward signs of hysteria or schizophrenia. The Matrixian possessed often has the appearance of an ANGEL, of an ordinary person who certainly seems not to be doing anything wrong, but in secret is surrendered to the DEMON of depravation, or of envy, or dishonesty, or pride, self-exaltation, or wickedness, falsehood, infidelity, or any of the other character problems they bear and that pollute and distort their image as a fan of Jesus.

Each day, each minute and each decision of my life inevitably bring about an inner psychological battle in my conscience. On the one hand there are the ANGELS who suggest a choice that is coherent with the divine principles of love, righteousness and truth. On the other hand are the DEMONS, who, contrariwise, play on my innate pride and all the other character defects that I still haven't managed to distance from my heart. Modern "demon possession" hardly ever reveals itself as it did in the past with repugnant, coarse, outward manifestations. It hides, malicious and treacherous, behind each of my character defects, my every error, every unhealthy inclination against which I have ceased to battle. If the DEMON of pride, envy or corruption no longer sparks an opposing struggle in my conscience then I have surrendered to that DEMON.

How many DEMONS do I still have to cast out from my "closet"? How dark is my inner cellar? For how long will I protect, play down and justify their presence and "possession" in my life?

The only way out for me as a possessed person in the Matrix is a genetic mutation from Matrix Style to Christian Style... definitively from DEMON to ANGEL. And the only one capable of performing such a profound and authentic change in me is Jesus. Indeed, His Word promises me: "I will give you a new DNA and will put new genes in you; I will remove the Matrixian DNA from your body and give you my divine DNA" (see Ezekiel 36:26).

Into whose hands do I place my destiny? To whom do I entrust the control of my inner cellar? Jesus, exactly as He did two thousand years ago, is capable of casting out these DEMONS from my life making me physically, psychologically and spiritually free. Jesus is the only one who can clear my cellar of the most occult and subtle DEMONS. Jesus is the only one who can free me from the “demon possession” that controls all the fans of the Matrix in a more or less evident way.

If the DEMON of pride, envy or corruption no longer sparks an opposing struggle in my conscience then I have surrendered to that DEMON.

Sanctum. The divine genetic code

Every living being has a genetic inheritance. Genetic inheritance is the combination of genes carried on the DNA molecule. So my genetic inheritance, or the set of messages contained in the genes transmitted to me by my parents, is written in my DNA chain with a code termed genetic.

My pole-star is undeniably clear: the first attribute of God's DNA is holiness. Indeed, I note with a hint of wonder how the word "holiness" (or its synonyms) is found several times in the Bible in association to God with respect to the word "love" (or its synonyms), "justice" or any other divine characteristic. God is totally separate from everything that has been touched by the Matrix. Despite the fact, then, that holiness is God's main characteristic, it is systematically ignored or misinterpreted by many Matrixian wise men. Unscrupulous false prophets, "scientists of the spirit", place holiness in contrast with love, another fundamental gene of the divine genetic inheritance. Holiness appears to have too negative and sectarian a connotation, while love is a positive concept which seems to embrace rather than divide. However, I discover that God's combination of genes cannot tolerate the gene of evil and clearly manifests this. God's love is perfectly compatible with His holiness.

Holiness is thus the main gene in God's DNA from which all His other "gene messages" originate. As a fan of Jesus I am invited to follow God's example (Ephesians 5: 1), reproducing in me His exact genetic code. I don't have the possibility of taking the divine genes that interest me and/or ignoring the genes that upset me. The concept of God that has been spread in the Matrix puts to one side the invitation that God Himself extends to His fans: "Be holy, as I am holy" (Leviticus 11: 44;

1 Peter 1: 15, 16). If I sincerely love God, I must first of all safeguard the inviolability of the divine genetic code, reflecting above all the gene of His sanctity. The moment I, a fan of Jesus, begin to compromise myself with genes other than those found in the divine DNA, I stop reflecting the DNA evidence that identifies me undeniably as a child of God (Isaiah 57:15), revealing in me traces of a genetic mutation... and thus of a different father.

God's love is perfectly compatible with His holiness.

Diabolicum. The genetic mutation of evil

A hereditary disease is a disease which an individual develops due to the action of one or more mutated genes that originate from the genetic inheritance from one or both of the parents. A mutant is an organism, which, thanks to mutations in its DNA that occur by chance or are deliberately induced in the laboratory, takes on characteristics other than those of normal organisms or creatures of the same species, generally conferring them with capabilities that are atypical for the species to which they belong.

In the Matrix there's a sense of a dramatically mutated spiritual DNA. The mere act of breathing the oxygen in the Matrix means taking in invisible but significant molecules of rebellion against my Father and Creator and His genetic code so clearly transmitted to me through the ten genes of God's DNA: the ten commandments contained in Exodus 20.

1st gene: In the Matrix, music exalts my voice, fashion exalts my image, dancing exalts my sensuality, the cinema exalts my gaze, television programs exalt my talent, magazines exalt my body, advertising exalts my desires, companies exalt my career... In short, the Matrix is arranged all around my EGO, it stimulates it, tantalizes it, drugs it.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His first gene: "Have no other Gods beside me" (Exodus 20:3). What place does my EGO occupy?

2nd gene: In the Matrix, traditions exalt the relics, religions exalt their saints and/or prophets, spiritual leaders exalt their own superiority... In short, the Matrix has developed into a society in which the creature has taken the place reserved only for the Creator.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His second gene: "Do not bow down before sculptures or images of things up in heaven or down here on earth or in the waters under the earth" (see Exodus 20:4-5). Before whom do my knees bend?

3rd gene: In the Matrix, bloody wars are fought in God's name, heretics are persecuted in God's name, the masses are enslaved in God's name, political wars are conducted in God's name, military alliances are formed in God's name, diversity is fought against in God's name, minorities are downtrodden in God's name, God's friends are labeled fanatics... In short, the Matrix is governed by an elite of blasphemers.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His third gene: "Do not utter the name of the LORD, your God, in vain" (Exodus 20:4-5). What use do my actions make of God's name?

4th gene: In the Matrix, doctrines are observed that are born of a genetic code mutated through the creation of religious festivals, the institution of festivities, the imposition of days of rest... In short, the calendar in the Matrix is completely inundated with creatures disguised as demigods. The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His fourth gene: "Remember the seventh day of rest to keep it holy" (see Exodus 20:4-5). Of whom are my truths and doctrines born?

5th gene: In the Matrix, parents are forgotten in their days of old age, the elderly are abandoned to themselves, grey hair is looked down on... On the other hand, the strong are honored, the rich are protected, the proud are exalted. In short, people are arrogant towards the weak and doormats to the powerful.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His fifth gene: "Honor your father and mother" (see Exodus 20:12). To whom do I offer my honor and respect?

6th gene: In the Matrix, hands are shaken in church pews, hypocritical hands, hands that do things they do not reveal. Otherwise, who knows what the other hands might think, they would be appalled. Hands that kill the poor with hunger, the weak with strength, outsiders with exclusion, minorities with defamation, the simple with indifference, the ignorant with derision, the humble with humiliation, the sick with isolation.... Hands raised up behind the backs of the brethren. In short, the weakness of the many in the Matrix is exploited by the thirst for power of the few. The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His sixth gene: "Do not kill" (see Exodus 20:13). Which side am I on, the side of the victims or the assassins?

7th gene: In the Matrix, the “I want it all, now” philosophy is in vogue, sacrifices are avoided, renunciation is detested, the new is loved at the expense of the old, the use and discard mentality is encouraged, total sexual liberty is lauded.... In short, consumerism in the Matrix is a virus which has poisoned even the most intimate and fragile of human relationships.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His seventh gene: “Do not commit adultery” (see Exodus 20:14). What do my most secret passions reveal?

In the Matrix, hands are shaken in church pews, hypocritical hands, hands that do things they do not reveal.

8th gene: In the Matrix thieves reign. It would suffice to take a glance at the world of business and Matrixian politics to perceive notable social injustices on every level. Those with more, resorting to the principles of “creative finance”, know luxurious, elegant ways to elude public control, keeping money in their pockets which should be for the community. In short, the thief with the white collar, jacket and tie is often a very important and influential person in the Matrix. Unfortunately, the small businessman and private citizen also increasingly yield to this not very transparent modus operandi so submerged in the black marsh of crooked business dealings.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His eighth gene: “Do not steal”

(Exodus 20:15). Do I really possess only what is mine?

9th gene: In the Matrix white lies exist. Falsehood is increasingly excused as an innocuous omission for a good purpose. In the Matrix the biggest lie is “all are equal before the law”. The wealthiest can afford cynical consultants who delve into the jurisprudential maze deforming it to suit their own tastes and pleasure. In short, there are liars who are judged guilty and liars who are let off.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His ninth gene: “Do not testify falsely against your neighbor” (Exodus 20:16). Do my lips and my behavior always testify the truth?

10th gene: In the Matrix, the citizens live in fear of looking poor, they flaunt what they have and covet everything else, then they buy what they don't yet have, they build in constant competition with their neighbors. They do things they want people to talk about, they spend, expand and they are what they own.

The heart of the Matrix pulses to the rhythm of an open and shameless rebellion against the Creator and His tenth gene: “Do not covet your neighbor's house; do not covet your neighbor's wife, or his butler, or his maid, or his ox, or his donkey, or anything else that belongs to your neighbor” (Exodus 20:17). What dream do my deepest aspirations follow? I realize that the rebellion against the holy, immutable law of God, the reflection of His holy, perfect character, does not recognize the true CHRIST and paves the way for the ANTICHRIST and his Luciferian DNA.

 In the Matrix, the citizens live in fear of looking poor, they flaunt what they have and covet everything else, then they buy it and they build in constant competition with their neighbors.

They do things they want people to talk about, they spend, expand and they are what they own.

Pater Noster. The paternity test

A paternity test is carried out to determine paternity, i.e. if a man is the biological father of another individual or not. This test may be important in view of the father's rights and responsibilities. It is carried out using DNA analysis. Sexual reproduction causes the DNA of both parents to unite randomly to create a unique combination of genetic material in a new cell. It follows that an individual's genetic material originates from their parents' genetic material. By comparing the DNA sequences of one individual with those of another, I can determine whether one individual originates from the other or not. Specific sequences are examined to see if they have been copied precisely from the genome of one individual to that of another. If this is the case, this fact proves that the genetic material of one individual originates from that of another.

Jesus, when he was frontally and directly attacked by the prince of the Matrix (the commander-in-chief of the DEMONS) in the desert, clearly showed the origin of His spiritual genetic material. To each of the three temptations he didn't reply employing personal genes, such as His strength or His intelligence for example, but He replied with a simple, sharp “It is written”. Yes, the Bible was also Jesus’ pole-star throughout His life on earth. And so Jesus overcame rebellion with obedience and pride with humility. Jesus was the perfect example of the divine DNA in man, and being like Him, i.e. being Christian style, is ultimately the most important matter in my life.

From whom does my spiritual genetic material originate? What do the results of my spiritual paternity test say; whose child do I choose to be? Have I accepted Jesus’ invitation to come out of the Matrix, assimilating His uncontaminated DNA in me, or have I decided to be the child of another father who will brand me indelibly with the mark of evil?

I either accept, wholly and in its pure state, God the Creator’s DNA which contains the necessary genetic information and indispensable molecules for the harmonious development and correct functioning of His entire creation or I deliver myself with my own hands over to the destiny awaiting evil and its doers, great and small: an eternal, irreversible death.

Even if I have come to discover the very essence of evil as a genetic mutation of the divine DNA, the X-files of the prince of the Matrix are still not completely deciphered. On the contrary, I still have to decipher the very X-files regarding the soon and imminent future of planet earth. But thanks to my pole-star I can find out the future that awaits me.

The Bible was also Jesus' pole-star throughout His life on earth.

APOCALYPSE NOW

CHAPTER 6

It has been discovered that when an individual falls asleep and their thoughts “drift”, the brain waves start to slow down. Brain waves are graph traces that show the electrical activity of the brain. Depending on the waves emitted by the brain I can identify the following five macroscopic phases:

- Delta waves: these waves characterize deep sleep;
- Theta waves: are the waves of the stages in which I dream;
- Alpha waves: are waves typical of the phase of being “half-asleep” and the moments preceding my falling asleep
- Beta waves: are the waves my brain emits when I am conscious;
- Gamma waves: are the waves I register in states of being particularly alert or tense.

According to the very well-known parable of the ten virgins that Jesus Himself told (Matthew 25:1-13), the prince of the Matrix has managed to make all ten of the virgins fall asleep while awaiting the bridegroom i.e. Christians who are waiting for their Lord and Savior. But Jesus again, with the same parable, assures me that at midnight, or just before His return there will be a powerful wake-up call. Jesus Himself then prophesies a lightening passage of all His fans from the state of deep sleep (Delta waves) to the state of particular wakefulness and alertness (Gamma waves). I want to carefully follow the decodification of the principle of the brainwave frequencies applied to my “spiritual sleep”, listening to and assimilating this powerful cry of spiritual re-awakening from Matrixian hypnosis.

Delta: Mass hypnosis

The Latin expression “Panem et Circenses” is used, often with a negative connotation, to define the political tactics used by individuals or groups with the aim of attracting and keeping the consensus of the people by organizing group entertainment activities, or more specifically, distracting the citizens’ attention from political affairs so that they would be handled only by the elite. The expression “Panem et Circenses” exemplified an extremely influential mechanism of power over the Roman people, a true instrument in the hands of the powerful to cease the masses’ discontent.

The prince of the Matrix uses the same strategy today to control the masses. He is imprisoning the entire human race in an invisible, silent, odorless, immaterial cell. It is a true silent war.

That my brain continually endures attacks from the outside is now a fact of which I am well aware. What takes me unawares is the discovery that I have become the subject of a real “Mass Hypnosis” without ever having perceived its existence. And yet words, colors, sounds and techniques, of which I have never become aware, are continuously used without scruples in the Matrix with the aim of hypnotizing. This continual, invisible bombardment has a strong influence on the way my conscious and subconscious minds view themselves and the world.

In short, I am becoming more and more of a spectator in the world than a participant without ever realizing it. This happens because “hypnotizing spirits” decide the fate of the Human Race while I am sitting on the sidelines watching them play the game. I haven’t even had to lie on a couch to hear their words whispered into my ear! It’s enough to sit in my armchair and listen to the news, the actors, the voices in the background of the adverts and the various presenters; the deed is done. The messages slowly insinuate themselves in my mind until I think the way the supreme leaders of the Matrix want me to think. All this might seem an excessively apocalyptic vision of the situation but it corresponds to the current Matrixian reality!

In view of these facts, it seems there's almost no escape since I am subjected to a "silent war" that fires messages in the place of bullets. Messages set in motion by data processors rather than gunpowder; from a computer rather than a rifle... Unfortunately, when a secret weapon is used gradually I never become aware of its presence. Quite the contrary, I adapt to the point of tolerating its invasion in my life. A weapon that makes no noise, causes no evident physical or mental wound and does not obviously interfere with my social or everyday life. A subtle war given that I am not able to recognize the weapon that strikes me and I am therefore lead to believe that that weapon does not exist and that perhaps, it is the fruit of the sick fantasy of all those who love to see conspiracy everywhere.

Jesus predicted that in the last days, just before His return, His fans (defined virgins) would all be spiritually asleep (Matthew 25:1-13). It would seem that in this case too real mass hypnosis has occurred. Religious leaders, spiritual guides and self-styled fans of Jesus are blind to the signs of the times prophesied by the Bible.

And me? Are my main worries bread, entertainment, my career and hobbies, thus voluntarily remaining in my invisible prison? Or am I engaged with steely determination in coming out of the Matrix, reflecting the character of Jesus i.e. God's DNA?

Religious leaders, spiritual guides and self-styled fans of Jesus are blind to the signs of the times prophesied by the Bible.

Theta: A spiritual cancer

Cancer is defined as a mass of tissue that grows in an excess and uncoordinated manner with respect to normal tissue and persists in this state after the stimuli that induced the process stop. This uncontrolled, uncoordinated growth of a group of cells is determined by alterations in their genetic inheritance.

In the Matrix a permanent genetic alteration is taking place right in the spiritual field. The supreme leaders of the Matrix have indeed reached the conclusion that their “one world” will progress only when the present religious obstacles will be eliminated and all humanity observes a single religious creed i.e. only when the original spiritual genetic inheritance given to me by my Creator will be supplanted by a genetic mutation created in the laboratory of evil. Indeed I discover that a universal politico-religious fusion is already underway. Before my eyes, spiritually hypnotized by the great director and puppet master of the Matrix, a new mystical spiritual philosophy is arising that presents itself as a development of faith in Jesus. The prince of the Matrix is preparing an alternative religious framework, with which the whole population of the earth will soon, very soon, have to align itself.

In the Matrix today I find numerous preachers and books that claim to nourish my innate spiritual hunger with a synthesis of religious practices, beliefs, traditions and rites from the most diverse Matrixian backgrounds. This emerging spiritual wave does not propose a return to the pure origins of the one, immutable DNA of God, but a spiritual syncretism of a vaguely just about Christianish appearance. And this forced cross between the word of the Creator and the lies of the rebellious creature is bringing about a Christian-Matrixian syncretism, which is already giving birth to a new religious system in which beliefs and practices based on the teachings of Jesus and the Bible co-exist with the religions and doctrines of DEMONS.

In the Matrix today there is a great (and prophetically suspicious) emphasis on the unification of all those who profess to be fans of Jesus, of every creed and denomination. The principle is: "After all we are not so different... we can certainly work together. If we put aside our doctrinal differences we can agree on the things we have in common." Numerous religious leaders indeed would swear that the call to observe Bible truths (such as the fourth commandment regarding the day of rest) does nothing but cause division and therefore should be avoided in the name of love and unity among the brothers. In so doing, these leaders ignore the Bible, my pole-star that helps me to distinguish the ANGELS from the DEMONS. The Scriptures could not more clearly oppose this spiritual genetic mutation: "Whoever goes out and does not remain in the doctrine of Jesus does not have God. Whoever remains in the doctrine has the Father and the Son" (see 2 John 1:9). And besides ignoring the Bible these pseudo-prophets mutate the divine DNA, ignoring its most important gene: holiness.

This Christian-Matrixian syncretism is bringing about a reduction of all the elements of faith to the lowest common denominator. The Word of God in its most inconvenient and unpopular parts is ignored, experience becomes more important than the Truth, miracles and wonders more important than the “it is written”. The sound doctrine of ANGELS and divine correction are judged to be elements of division and conflict without love. But the truth offends only those who do not want to hear it. To ignore the truth means to sell my soul to a destiny of eternal destruction.

I have reached the crux of the question. Soon in the Matrix biblical fundamentalism will be branded as a sectarian spirit and labeled a global threat. This means that those who believe in the divine inspiration of the Bible and its absolute values are dangerous extremists; they are therefore considered a public enemy and treated as such! Those who on the other hand passively bend to the corruption of the purity of God’s Word and accept the Luciferian DNA will be honored and respected. And Revelation (13:3-4) leaves no doubt about the fact that the whole earth will worship the new god, totally absorbing his DNA.

If I examine the matter closely, the Matrixian politico-religious fusion therefore turns out to be a brilliant, sparkling communication strategy that allows me to find no sure points of reference. I am impotently witnessing a more flexible interpretation of the Gospel, a redefinition of the concept of being a fan of Jesus and agitated, disproportioned accentuation and tolerance. On the other hand, the integral proclamation of the Word of God is hastily, cheerfully cast aside. But I want to ask myself: what is the ‘common ground’ that unites faith and unbelief, the Gospel of Jesus and the doctrines of DEMONS, the divine and the Luciferian DNA? A fan of Jesus cannot ignore the ‘genetic differences’ that separate them from the fans of the Matrix. I cannot ignore the condition of the fan of the Matrix, hiding from him the great, vital Bible truths of which he is still ignorant. Since my principles lead me to the great mandate, I must necessarily proclaim the original Gospel of Jesus in the Matrix... without “serpentine revisitations”. Only the original, uncontaminated

DNA has the power to free the fans of the Matrix from their position of slavery. This is why the tyranny that enslaves this world is terrorized by it and fights it with every means possible. God's DNA is the nightmare of the DEMONS and their commander-in-chief.

Even a superficial analysis of what is happening in the "made in the Matrix" religious world cannot conceal from me the fierce calling into question of the original, authentic foundations of faith in Jesus. It is a true spiritual cancer. The Bible predicts how this cancer will spread throughout the world. But God's call to His fans is: "Come out of the Matrix so that you will not be infected by its spiritual cancer" (see Revelation 18:4). God Himself will sit among His fans. Only they are the true people of God! They will be a people who unconditionally reflect the image, character and holiness of the Creator.

These fans of Jesus are still scattered throughout all the religious denominations but they will unite under pressure from the new universal politico-religious leadership, to form a group about which Jesus prophesized: "Do not fear, oh little flock, because it is your Father's pleasure to grant you the kingdom" (Luke 12:32). And this last flock of Jesus' fans does not await a kingdom of earthly peace possessed by men, but the return of their Lord Jesus Christ in person. This last remnant church will not unite in large temples and ecclesiastic buildings but, as in the time of the Apostles, in small communities, in their houses and in isolated places. It will be a clandestine church; it will return to the times of the catacombs. But the greater the external pressure from the Matrixian Christian community, the more the little flock's faith in Jesus will grow. And so a flock will grow under one Pastor, just as Jesus predicted.

A flock immune to the Matrixian spiritual cancer. An unbeatable flock, because it bears the genetic code of the omnipotent Creator.

3*Alfa: Another messiah

Today in the Matrix there is an immense, well-organized network formed of thousands from groups, organizations, associations, clubs, lodges and religious groups with the aim and intention of preparing the world for the dawn of a new age, the Age of Aquarius (New Age). The “master plan” of this network is to draw attention to and push to the forefront the sole leader of the world, a new messiah called the Christ or Maitreya, who will come to teach me to live in peace with others. The objective of the movement is thus that of preparing the world to receive the new messiah and bring in the Age of Aquarius, thus establishing a new universal realm on planet earth.

In the New Age philosophy the principle idea is that of the “conscience of Christ”. In other words Christ is a force rather than an individual. This idea of the “conscience of Christ” asserts that Jesus was not the only Christ, but He equipped Himself to receive the “conscience of Christ”, just as Buddha, Krishna and many others probably did. The fans of the New Age believe that Jesus received the conscience of Christ at His baptism and that He released it at the moment of His crucifixion.

As impossible as it is for me to trace a definitive profile, the main conviction that almost all the fans of this new message have in common is that planet earth and the entire human race are on the threshold of spiritual progress that, if reached, will allow access to a new awareness: 2012 is the date that, more or less in unison, is recognized as the indicative term for this transition and the moment in which all the divisions, both internal and external, that oppress contemporary man, can be overcome thanks to the practice of meditation and seeking harmony with the universe; the date indicated as the bridge that will finally lead to the age of Aquarius, the new era of light and universal brotherhood.

This new spirituality declares a total openness of ideas towards all religions but the philosophy on which it is founded is a precise, calculated effort to undermine Jesus, God's only Son, with a new message that has been working behind the scenes over the centuries.

- Who could this shadow messiah, defined by the Bible as the Antichrist, be if not Lucifer who from the beginning has wanted to take Jesus' place?
- Who could the author of this new era of light and brotherhood be if not Lucifer, the old lightbearing angel?
- Who could be the bringer of a new universal law and peace if not Lucifer who from the Genesis has done all he could to discredit the divine law and harmony in the universe?

This new spirituality is a precise, calculated effort to undermine Jesus, God's only Son, with a new messiah.

4*Beta:
The invisible empire

One of the Matrix's main characteristics is the dissolution of the traditional nation-states bringing about a single planetary government regulated by a central power. The leaders of the Matrix are enthusiastic about the prospect of peace and a new era through the establishment of an enlightened, universal authority. And the world population accepts pacifically all this believing that the new authority will bring peace to the entire human race.

My pole-star, in the 17th chapter of its last book, tells me about the creation of a "New Planetary Leadership" by the Antichrist, the ex-cherub Lucifer who wants to take Jesus' place, precisely in these last days. Surely this impostor will have to have at his disposal a subtle form of dictatorial government to control the citizens without opposition. To preserve a fragile social order the prince of the Matrix will very soon repress every form of dissent, resistance and uprising. Indeed the apocalyptic revelations in the Bible warn me in no uncertain terms that together with the formation of a world religion and politics, in the Matrix a universal dictatorship will rise up. And these new dictators, by playing on the specter of emergency to limit civil liberties with emergency measures are already taking possession of the democracies known to me today.

History teaches me that all the Matrixian dictators always employ the same strategy. Control is power. Although they are dictators with different ideologies they find common ground in their strategy. All the dictators always adopt the same schemes and tactics to limit free societies and eliminate dissent.

It is far too easy for me to observe the world and believe that these biblical warnings are exaggerated or out of tune with the times: after all, I continue to do what I have always done. I navigate in the fascinating world of Internet, switch from one TV channel to another, enjoy the Hollywood flicks, read the bestsellers and newspapers that give me an overall perspective on the current political world, courts hold trials, newspapers publish news, protesters march against war, preparations for an election campaign are underway.

In the collective imagination dictatorships have very evident facets like the scenes in a film: the boots climbing the stairs, someone knocking on the door in the middle of the night, the troops marching in the streets, the giant banners unfurled over the buildings. Scenes of terror with smoke on the horizon coming out of cremation ovens. I am used to seeing sensational images regarding totalitarian societies: gulags, concentration camps, killing fields. Even the more educated citizens of the Matrix believe that as long as the press publishes and parliament makes laws then all is well. However, normality often preannounces the start of a change, a point of no return in a dying democracy. Normality often continues to exist even when a violent dictatorship has established itself. Indeed history teaches me that the establishment of a dictatorship does not necessarily mean mass extermination of the people. Historically, dictatorship has a semblance of normality. Initially there are high profile arrests for “treason” or sporadic arrests for “espionage”. All this happens invisibly while tourists visit the monuments en masse and celebrities parade in the city nightclubs. So I don't pay much attention to the evolutionary process that transforms a free society into a place where all this can happen.

And yet today in the Matrix, concepts like democracy and liberty are silently disappearing. Civil, political, social and ethical rights that are the foundation of democracy are more and more ignored and trampled on. A technocratic corporation with a tyrannical edge based on surveillance, monitoring, indoctrination by the mass media, military oppression and a radical separation of the social classes is being established on all levels. Surveillance cameras, microchips, social networks and mass means of communication are greatly used by a small circle of governors to manipulate the will of the masses who live under the constant oppression of poverty, hunger and sickness. A sort of Orwellian nightmare with “Big Brother” in which a shamefully rich, powerful and corrupt confraternity lives off a population kept in ignorance regarding its real condition of material and spiritual slavery. And so, through the legislation of the governments and thanks to a new spirituality in the churches, the prince of the Matrix, with the help of the DEMONS and politically sided and religiously allied people, is injecting his DNA into every living soul.

Yes, I can finally see clearly! In material terms the Matrix is a technological police state, governed by a powerful, obscure elite constantly seeking to keep the masses subjugated. In spiritual terms, the Matrix is a world in the image and likeness of Lucifer, Jesus’ great adversary.

It’s a rather grey, gloomy image of tomorrow’s world, from a social, economic and political point of view. But I want to remember two things:

1. The prophet Daniel prophesied that the last days would be times of great anguish as there has never been before in the history of the human race (Daniel 12:1);
2. The main capability of the architect of the Matrix, as already demonstrated in heaven with the ANGELS, is precisely his capacity to keep his plans and intentions invisible till the last minute.

Gamma: Lying miracles

I will soon find myself facing an incredible series of very evident paranormal phenomena, so miraculous that they will immediately cause all the world religions to agree. A well-devised progressive sequence of supernatural manifestations so clear and irrefutable as to be questioned by no one. Evidence of such strength as to immediately cause all wars to cease and impose a new powerful collective conscience able to immediately unify all men as never before. But who will appear hypnotizing the world with signs and wonders?

- The deceased, characters from history and my loved ones, who from the “hereafter” greatly desire to give me advice?
- The reincarnated who, under hypnosis, are greatly concerned about enlightening me?
- The Martians who, having come from very far away, greatly desire to meet me?
- The spirits who present themselves to me under the false guise of ANGELS of light?

- The goddess who is so similar (over the centuries and continents) to the ancient female divinities?
- The Christ who wants to establish his not very heavenly and very earthly kingdom?

According to practically all the “made in the Matrix” religions, supernatural phenomena will monopolize the attention of the world in the last days. And from 2012 these supernatural phenomena will increase, unleashing all their saving, miraculous energy to unite all the religions under the wings of a new messiah. This moment coincides with the beginning of a new era of peace and wellbeing.

Is it truth or counterfeit, of ANGELS or of DEMONS? How do I know if my own senses are tricking me? My pole-star offers me three clues:

1. The Antichrist will perform signs and miracles, even deceiving, if it were possible, Jesus’ fans;
2. The last days will not be ones of peace but of tribulation;
3. The dead cannot appear.

The Bible also gives me peremptory warning in 1st Thessalonians 5:3 that when this entity, together with all its fans, says: “Peace and safety”, then sudden destruction will come upon them, like labor pains to a pregnant woman; and they will not escape. Indeed, once again in the apocalyptic revelations of the Bible, in chapter 18, I find crystal clear indications regarding the sudden ruin of the Matrix and the abrupt end of this invisible dictatorial empire. I read:

1. “Your judgment has come in a moment” (verse 10);
2. “In a moment such great riches were destroyed” (verse 16);
3. “In a moment it was reduced to a desert... so the Matrix... will no longer be found” (verses 19-21).

The biblical image does not describe a harmonious continuation towards the future, but a crisis and radical discontinuity in a short period of time, which suddenly gives rise to the battle of Armageddon, the final crisis... the last confrontation between ANGELS and DEMONS, the epilogue of the great battle between Jesus the Creator and Lucifer the creature. My pole-star reveals to me the destiny of the Matrix: the empire of empires will end up like Sodom and Gomorrah (Isaiah 13:19).

The biblical image does not describe a harmonious continuation towards the future, but a crisis and a radical discontinuity in a short period of time.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

CHAPTER 7

1*Justice.
The seven last plagues

The closer we get to Jesus' return and the final battle between good and evil, the more the ANGELS intervene with strength and determination in the lives of the fans of Jesus, who are called "saints" and/or "saved" in the Bible. The book of Revelation is, indeed, full of extraordinary interventions by ANGELS to help the "saints".

The ANGELS' main task is to accompany me on my walk of faith and protect me from the continual attacks by the DEMONS. But they will not always hold back the winds of strife (see Revelation 7:1). Precisely for this reason, at the end of probation when every human being will have made their choice, the ANGELS will no longer be able to take care of those who will have rejected (at that point, definitively) the divine protection, accepting the mark of belonging to the Matrix. And so the winds of strife will blow freely over the earth in the form of plagues, striking seven times those who have chosen to distance themselves from the vital presence of their heavenly Father (Revelation 16:1-2).

The fans of Jesus will be once more gathered, like the hen gathers her chicks, under the protective wings of their omnipotent God.

These winds will be violent, their scourge devastating but the citizens of the Matrix struck by the plagues will continue to blaspheme the name of God (Revelation 16:11, 21), while the fans of Jesus, marked in their foreheads with the seal of good, will be once more gathered, like the hen gathers her chicks, under the protective wings of their omnipotent God (Revelation 7:2 and Luke 13:34).

The seven last plagues will be the final events before Jesus' return. The Matrix will crumble, evil will end and my world will be cleansed of all that destroys and causes pain. But, during these plagues which will strike with their curse the human allies of the old serpent, the Creator, the whole angelic world and the saints/saved themselves will be the ones to suffer the most.

The one. The return of Jesus

My pole-star reveals to me that soon God the Son will return to earth to finally bring man back to his place of origin. It will be a day of independence and total liberation from the virus of the Matrix. The whole Bible directs my gaze towards this grand event; to have my gaze directed "elsewhere" could cost me dearly.

Jesus will finally take me home where no weeping or war-cries will be heard; where it will no longer be possible to see blood flow or tears spilt over the murder victims. A place where I can fully enjoy love, peace, freedom, solidarity, no longer as poignant, passing dreams, but as eternal indestructible moments.

The Bible nails the prince of the Matrix down, unmasking him together with his mendacious X-Files. This is why this prince comes up with thousands of tricks to keep me away from the saving information that my pole-star offers me. An angel of light, then. But hell can hide where there is too much light. My pole-star reminds me that the prince of the Matrix: "...has blinded my mind so that the light of the Gospel of the Glory of Jesus, which is the image of God will not shine in me" (2 Corinthians 4:4). The light of the rebel angel is blinding; the light from Jesus and the Gospel illuminates. One light, that of Jesus, that has no need of a stage to shine, unlike that of the prince of the Matrix which cannot make itself noticed without staggering effects and supernatural signs and wonders. My pole-star depicts the prince of the Matrix as a "roaring lion". He roars because he knows he has little time left; he knows that Jesus' return will put an end to the dominion of his invisible, dictatorial, bloody, cruel empire. The last move he has left to make is to 'imitate' the very return of Jesus Christ. Jesus predicted this and to the disciples, who asked Him to reveal the date of His return, He said: "Let no one deceive you. Because many will come using my name, saying: 'I am Christ', and will deceive many... So, if anyone says: 'Here is Christ, or there', do not believe it... because as the lightening comes from the east and is visible as far as the west, so too will be the coming of the Son of Man" (Matthew 24:27). The Bible continues with the vision of Jesus' return saying: "Because the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a loud shout, with the voice of the archangel and the trumpet of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first; then we who are alive and remain will be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air..." (1st Thessalonians 4:16-17). It just seems like a play on words: "to meet the Lord in the air"; but these words are prophecy and they are also a safeguard. They will save me from the thousands of presumed messiahs who torment my times. The "Director" is making preparations according to the Bible prophecies, thanks to a new gospel, a new religion/spirituality, a false return of Christ and a mendacious New Era. But I will not be able to be deceived: because my pole-star tells me that the true Christ, Jesus, God the Son and Michael the Archangel will not set their feet on the earth at His return; they will not establish new laws or houses of prayer; they will not be able to appear in any circumscribed geographical location because every eye will see them. What is the purpose of staging a false return of Christ other than to counterfeit the true return? Perhaps the liberation of the human race is no longer a pious illusion; it's probably closer than I can imagine. I want to be very careful that no one deceives me... my eternal life in heaven with Jesus depends on it.

Resurrection. The waking of the dead

Thanks to the day of Jesus' resurrection two thousand years ago, there will be a marvelous day for the resurrection of His fans: "Dear fan, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who are asleep, so that you will not be saddened like the fans of the Matrix who have no hope. If we believe that Jesus died and rose again, then we also believe that God the Father, through His Son, will bring those who have fallen asleep back to join Him. For we tell you this by God's word, that we who are alive and remain till Jesus' coming, will not precede those who are asleep" (1st Thessalonians 4:12-15).

How wonderful! If Jesus were to return today, His fans who are alive would see Him descend from heaven and at the same time they would witness the resurrection of the fans who, over the centuries, have descended into the tomb. If Jesus were to return at this moment I could witness the resurrection of the dead because the ‘last day’ would have come; the only day on which the dead can rise. And if the dead rise only on the last day, at the end of the world, that means that at this moment it is not possible to find the soul of any deceased person in heaven.

God is the God of the living, not of the dead. He wants me to live forever. While the Bible removes false, nebulous consolation, it however offers me a steadfast certainty: not the indestructibility of the soul but the reawakening of the entire being. No longer, therefore, wandering in search of answers from the spiritist hereafter; but a certainty of the here and now, in a serene, assured encounter with the Word of God: “God... has put the thought of eternity in my heart” (see Ecclesiastes 3:11); this Word tells me that I was created to live eternally. Ultimately, man aspires to immortality because God wanted us to stay immortal: he created us for this pleasure.

It is true that as human beings we continue to die; but a real paradise awaits me: this is the hope that the Creator of the universe continues to make resound from generation to generation, till the last day. Jesus rose again in history; I will rise again in history. This is the Gospel, the Good News of eternal life at Jesus’ return.

God is the God of the living, not of the dead. He wants me to live forever.

4

Eternity:
A new world

“For, behold, I create a new world; no longer will the Matrix be remembered; it will not come back to memory. Be glad, yes, rejoice exceedingly over what I am about to create;

for, behold, I create a new world for your delight and joy. I myself will rejoice over the new world and will be glad about my fans; there will no longer be sounds of weeping or cries of anguish heard; there will be no more newborns who live only a few days, or elderly people who do not live out their days. They will build houses and inhabit them; they will plant vineyards and eat the fruit. They will no longer build and another inhabit, they will no longer plant only for another to eat; because my fans’ days will be like the days of a tree; they will always enjoy the work of their hands. They will not labor in vain, they will no longer bear children only to see them die suddenly; for they will be the descendants of the blessed of the Lord. It will come to pass that, before they call me, I will answer; before they ask me, I will already have granted their request.

The wolf and the lamb will graze together, the lion will eat straw like the ox, and the serpent will eat dust.

They will neither hurt nor destroy in this new world”, says the Creator (see ISAIAH 65:17-25).

For, behold, I create a new world; no longer will the Matrix be remembered; it will not come back to memory.

CONCLUSION

Destiny. In front of a crossroad

Just as the Matrix in all its forms makes people age, become ugly and weakens man very early on, the same thing happens in the invisible spiritual world. The Matrix is a “progressive degenerative virus”. Despite his zeal and diligence, the prince of the Matrix is a tired, ugly being and deeply disappointed with his work. Evil has left its mark on him forever. This mustn't however cause me to drop my guard; I don't want to underestimate him because danger is always around the corner. Jesus himself invites me to “watch and pray so that you don't fall into temptation” (see Matthew 26:41), “because the prince of the Matrix has come down towards me with great anger because he knows he has little time” (see Rev 12:12).

Regarding the battle that took place in heaven between the ANGELS of God and the DEMONS of the prince of the Matrix it is thus written that the prince and his DEMONS did not win. Again in the following battles that ensued on the earth the ANGELS got the better, they showed that they were simply stronger. In these battles between good and evil I am also involved as a man, day after day. The superiority of the ANGELS in my life is always demonstrable to the degree to which I allow it. “I therefore want to put on the whole armor of God, so that I can remain strong against the pitfalls of the prince of the Matrix; my fight indeed is not against flesh and blood but principalities, powers, the rulers of darkness of this world, against the spiritual forces of evil that are in the high places invisible to me” (see Ephesians 6:11-12).

“If you are not with me you are against me,” Jesus tells me in no uncertain terms (Matthew 12:30). I cannot have the possibility of not choosing or making a neutral decision as though this battle between good and evil, between Jesus and the prince of the Matrix, has nothing to do with me. Jesus died for me and together with His ANGELS is fighting for me. Yes, for me! To delay this decision is to take an explicit position against Jesus in favor of the rebel angel. I want to be aware of this truth that Jesus in person wants to transmit to me at this time. I am in front of a crossroad in my life...

Exit strategy. Come out of the Matrix

To come out of the Matrix means to stop believing all the “entities of light” that present themselves to me.

To come out of the Matrix means to stop believing that my soul is immortal and accept the only antidote to my eternal death: Jesus.

To come out of the Matrix means to stop inventing new divinities giving them the place reserved for the only true God.

To come out of the Matrix means to stop promoting the alteration of the divine spiritual DNA with a Christian-Matrixian fusion planned on the drawing boards of creatures.

To come out of the Matrix means to stop contradicting the genes of God's divine DNA and thus also His holiness and His love.

To come out of the Matrix is a program of transformation of my genetic inheritance which is manifested through my character and lifestyle from "diabolicum" to "sanctum", from DEMON to ANGEL.

To come out of the Matrix is to have the courage to test, according to the light of my pole-star, the Bible, the origin of the signs and wonders that will soon capture and cloud my senses.

To come out of the Matrix means to fight, with Jesus' help, against all my character defects, never surrendering to the continual demonic attempt to possess my soul.

To come out of the Matrix means to take a serious, clear and conscious decision for Jesus, without continuing to remain in a false neutral and/or lukewarm position.

To come out of the Matrix means to become definitively like Jesus, to be Christian style!

Victory. Finally free

In the world of the occult everything has a cost. Every time I turn to soothsayers or magicians or open any other X-file, I am called to pay with interest. All the citizens of the Matrix that have been directly or indirectly involved in occult practices are forced to undergo the consequences: negative transformation of the character, mental illness, emotional and affective disorders, psychological damage, physical illness, spiritual problems, inner fears and more. Indeed, my pole-star has always warned me: “Don’t you know that if you offer yourself to someone as a slave to obey them, you are a slave to the person you obey: either of the evil that brings death or of the good that brings righteousness?” (see Romans 6:16).

But Jesus assures me: “My dear fan, you will not be the one to fight this battle” (2 Chron 20:15, 17). With His death on the cross and the following resurrection, Jesus unmasked and triumphed over the X-files of evil. He, who brought the DEMONS to their knees during His earthly life annihilated their power and made their final destruction sure. My pole-star confirms to me that “Jesus, the Son of God, incarnated Himself as a man to destroy the works of the prince of the Matrix” (see 1 John 3:8b). “He has spoiled the principalities and powers of darkness, and made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them by means of the cross” (Colossians 2:15).

Jesus’ victory gives me the victory over the occult forces of the DEMONS that are still trying to control me while I walk with Him in peace, joy and the assurance of His love. I no longer live in the spiritual darkness of the Matrix or with the fear of obscure, evil powers, nor in ignorance and a lack of meaning in my life. In this new liberty in Jesus, I am called to grow in the likeness of His image, reflecting His uncontaminated DNA, talking with Him daily in prayer and nurturing myself spiritually with His Word.

“My dear fan, you will not be the one to fight this battle.”

4*Bodyguard.
I am not alone

The ANGELS are with me every day, protecting me against the Matrixian attacks. I am not alone in the struggle against evil! If the veil that stops me from seeing the invisible were to be removed, I would see the ANGELS, powerful creatures, fighting for me. My protection is their mission!

Myriads of ANGELS protect me from Evil and distance the forces of darkness that want to destroy me. The ANGELS watch over me. On this earth myriads of divine messengers can be found, sent by God to keep the DEMONS at bay from all those who refuse to follow their ways and that they try to attract under their dominion. These protecting ANGELS are in constant contact with my heavenly Father.

In the same way in which a man talks to a friend, the ANGELS have always spoken to men to rescue them. Often the words of encouragement from the heavenly messengers have revived the courage of many of Jesus' fans and elevated their earthly thoughts projecting them towards the promised paradise where the saved will rejoice wearing white robes, wearing bright crowns in the presence of the great, white throne of the Creator of the universe.

I want to try to better comprehend the service of the ANGELS and keep in mind that every sincere fan of Jesus has the guaranteed protection of these celestial beings. Hosts of light and strength accompany the humble in heart who believe in the divine Bible promises and make them their own. Powerful heroes, cherubim and seraphim, seated at the right hand of God, have the task of serving the fans of Jesus who have been saved. The ANGELS also deserve my attention. God created them as a blessing for man and they help me by suggesting to me the right thoughts and protecting me from the temptations of the prince of the Matrix and his DEMONS.

God expects me to abandon the confusion and falsehood of the Matrix to rejoice over the creation. I want to learn to trust God! I want to learn to turn to Him because He has the power to free me! I want to tell my heavenly Father clearly what I need. He will listen to my prayers too and send me His ANGELS to protect me and help me do the right thing.

At Jesus' promised return "God will send His ANGELS with a loud sound of the trumpet to unite His fans from the four winds, from one end to the other of the heavens" (Matthew 24:31). On that day, all the ANGELS will accompany Jesus who returns to save all those who have had the courage to come out of the Matrix. On that day, finally, I will be able to meet my GUARDIAN ANGEL and see all that my eyes cannot see. It will be marvelous when my Lord and Savior Jesus opens my eyes to the invisible spiritual world. What wonders my eyes will see!

Postface

A world invisible to the human eye is about to come out into the open: powerful, imposing creatures, guardians of the human race and messengers of God, are about to reveal themselves manifesting God's glory. On the opposite side, the host of Evil is ready to accuse the sincere fans of Jesus, but the heavenly host, one thousand times ten thousand ANGELS, keeps watch so that those who are tempted are protected, strengthened and reinvigorated. Both armies are ready to take action but it is up to me to choose with which army to fight, which pole-star to follow, which Jesus to look to and which Gospel to heed.

Then, one day very soon, I will find myself in the presence of God, who will hand me the eternal destiny I myself have chosen.

Sources

In writing this book, we drew inspiration from othersources, firstand foremost, obviously, from the Holy Bible (New Revised Version) itself.

The other human, more recent sources (which we would advise you to read in their entirety) were not chosen carelessly. On the contrary, we used others' writings intentionally and with awareness. We will try to indicate the sources used below.

The last trolley out by Morris Venden

Rivoluzione in Vaticano (Revolution im Vatican) by Martin Kobialka

The apocalyptic vision and the neutering of Adventism by George R. Knight

Le Christ de l'Apocalypse by Jean Zurcher

Omega by Lewis R. Walton

Trip into the supernatural by Roger Morneau

Unity of the churches, an actual possibility by Karl Rahner

The end of America by Naomi Wolf

Queen of all by Tetlow, Oakland and Myers

The truth about angels by Ellen G. White

Particularly useful to us was the book Messaggi dall'aldilà [Messages from the hereafter] by Luigi Caratelli who we thank in particular for having allowed us to make use in our work here of the fruit, contained in his book, of his several years of research on paranormal events.

However, this booklet as a whole has its own originality and does not depend in any way on its sources. Its independence must be identified in selectivity. The sources were useful to us but they did not really condition us. Indeed, we tried to model the single reflections so that they would be useful for the message we want to transmit to you and to all those who would read it.

The final aim of this booklet, exactly the same as that of the first volume, is to warn the world of the imminent return of our Savior Jesus Christ. It is much nearer than the optimists and sincere seekers of truth can even imagine or believe and the prophecies in God's Word warn us of the imminent conclusion of this planet's history.

Jesus is about to return and the Bible says so clearly... Actually, it cries it out to the four corners of the earth. "Behold, I come and with me the reward for each man according to his deeds" (Revelation 22:12).

About two thousand years ago the first Christians, believing that Christ's second coming was imminent, greeted each other with the word "Maranatha" which means "Come, Lord".

Maranatha, dear fan of Jesus!
